

FIRST STAGE

Transforming Lives Through Theater

A Collaboration between First Stage and Carroll University

Arts Integration: Transforming Learning through Theater

(Course # EDU691F)

TWO SATURDAYS: Saturday, February 17 and Saturday, February 24, 2018
(9:00 a.m.-2:30 p.m.)

Open to classroom teachers in grades K4-8, administrators and specialists

With First Stage's 30 years of experience and expertise in creating and facilitating arts integrated lessons throughout the curricula, participants will:

- Explore and discuss the definition of Arts Integration, piece by piece, and develop a clear and well-defined understanding of this methodology.
- Engage in a variety of dramatic activities including pantomime, role play, improvisation and storytelling.
- Come away with practical application tips on how to successfully implement dramatic activities in the classroom and connect them to grade appropriate ELA-Literacy Common Core State Standards.

LOCATION:

- Carroll University Center for Graduate Studies
2140 Davidson Road, Waukesha, WI

FEES:

- Teachers may earn an optional 1, 2 or 3 graduate education credits from Carroll University at a special reduced professional development rate of ½ price tuition fee ($269 per Carroll University Graduate credit).
- Teachers who opt to participate for no credit will be charged a $150 audit registration fee.
- Tuition and audit registration fee includes Saturday coffee, morning snacks and course materials.

REGISTRATION:

- Registration closes February 10, 2018. Enrollment is limited.
